Q1: Do you support the principle that non-residential social care services should be available free at the point of delivery to those who have been assessed by a relevant professional as requiring them (as is the case within health care)?

Yes

Please explain your answer

Care charges force people who are often already living in poverty, further into need. Many people cannot afford their care charges. So they either go without the care they need, go without other necessities like food or heating or rely on unpaid carers or family members to pay their bills for them. So not only the person is forced into poverty, but their carer as well.

Q2. Do you agree that legislation is a necessary and appropriate means of addressing the issues identified?

Yes

Q3. The current system has resulted in varying charges in different areas for the same level and quality of service. Do you agree that there should be consistency across Scotland?

Q3. The current system has resulted in varying charges in different areas for the same level and quality of service. Do you agree that there should be consistency across Scotland?

Yes

What do you think the advantages and disadvantages would be?

It's appalling that it's a postcode lottery. There is no equality for people and most of the people being charged are not in a position to move to another area to escape the charges.

Q4. Should all social care related services be free at the point of delivery?

Yes

Q5. What are the likely financial implications (if any) of the proposed Bill to you or your organisation? What (if any) other significant financial implications are likely to arise?

No Response

Q6. What do you think the implications of the proposed Bill are for equality? If it is likely to have a substantial negative implication, how might this be minimised or avoided?

Positive

Please explain your answer. If you answered Negative, please suggest any ways this impact could be minimised or avoided.

Provision of care should NOT be based on ability to pay! It creates a two tier system for the most vulnerable people in our communities.

Q7. Are there any other comments you would wish to make that are relevant to this proposal?

No Response
